MASS MEETING DISCUSS SITE HIGH SCHOOL

Large Attendance Expected to Take Part in
Plans

FOUR SITES GIVEN

Considerable Discussion on Since Recent Site Committee Report

A mass meeting, called by the board of directors of the Glendale Union school, will be held in the high school building at 8 o'clock tonight, for the purpose of discussing and, if possible, to decide upon a site for the proposed new high school. From all indications this session will be well attended and will be crowded with "high lights."

There are three proposed sites to be considered at the meeting. One of these is known as the "Lukins" property located on Verdugo road between Broadway and Colorado streets. In this piece there are four separate parcels of land, owned by four separate parties. It consists of 2 1/2 acres and the price at which it is being offered to the high school district is $77,500.

The second site to be considered is the property belonging to J. R. Gray lying south of Patterson avenue and across from the Glendale city park. This piece consists of 18 acres of ground and is being offered to the city for $65,000 net, or $67,500, the seller to stand half of the expense of the required street improvement.

The third site is located at the northeast corner of San Fernando road and Broadway. It consists of 20 acres and the price asked is $64,000. This site has never been offered for consideration before, but was presented for the first time informally at the meeting of the high school trustees last night.

It will be remembered that some time ago at the request of the high school trustees the Glendale Chamber of Commerce appointed a committee to look over the various sites offered and to make a recommendation of some one site to the trustees. This committee made a thorough investigation into the various sites, this covering several days during which each site was visited by practically every

WHITE ROSES COVER CASKET OF HERO BROUGHT HOME

Impressive Services When Selection Was Made
From Four

CHALONS SUR MARNE, France, Oct. 25.—America's "unknown soldier" who is to be buried and honored at Arlington, has been selected. In an impressive ceremony, attended by high French and American army officers and peasants who brought flowers from miles around, the coffin containing the body of the soldier who is to symbolize the dead of all the A. E. F. to Americans, was selected from four brought from cemeteries at Romagne, Triancourt, Bony and Belleau Wood.

Sergeant Edward S. Younger of Chicago of a headquarters company on the Rhine, made the selection. Advancing through a lane of troops into a chapel, Sergeant Younger received from General Allen a bouquet of white roses. The flag curtain was drawn aside and Younger stepped into the little room. The flag was drawn across the door for an instant and when it was withdrawn again, it was seen that the sergeant had placed his bouquet upon the third coffin from the left. The "unknown soldier," whose identity will never be established, had been chosen.

FINDS DAUGHTER.

SPOKANE, Oct. 24.—A. E. Russell walked down Riverside avenue Sunday afternoon and saw a young lady asleep in the show window of a clothing store. He looked again and discovered it was his daughter, Vera, missing for six months. Police told him she had been hypnotized by a vaudeville performer and was to be awakened on the stage. Russell called the hypnotist, had the girl awakened before hand and a reconciliation followed.

INVENTOR PASSES

DUBLIN, Oct. 25.—John Boyd Dunlop, 81 years old, known as the inventor of the pneumatic tire, died here today. His invention, first introduced in 1888, resulted in the popularizing of bicycling and was a forerunner of the passenger automobile.

PRESIDENT VISITS

DEBS IN PRISON
ABOARD PRESIDENT'S
TRAIN, Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 25.—President and Mrs. Harding may visit Eugene V. Debs in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta during the visit in that city on Thursday. The President is soon to pass on the question of pardoning or granting executive clemency to Debs. Both he and Mrs. Harding have a strong desire to have a personal talk with Debs and to see under what conditions he is living.

What is the Matter With This World? Is Query of Mr. James

What is the matter with the world? asks Henry James in his comments on the editorial page tonight, after quoting a dispatch from Omaha which states that because of the low prices on corn much of the crop will not be taken out of the field. And a large part of the world is hungry! Farmers in Montana have had to watch their stock starve to death. "Either men are stupid," says Mr. James, "or they are victims of the most untoward circumstance." He finds that the law of supply and demand is out of gear.

James W. Foley takes as a philosophical text, "Stop, Look and Listen." And he makes the wise observation that you cannot listen and talk at the same time. You will, as you read Mr. Foley's articles, come to realize that there is value in them, a power of reasoning that causes you to think deeply.

Dr. Crane discusses "Women in Politics," and concludes with the observation that when the majority of women are filling public offices it will release a lot of husky men who had better be out making a living and doing something constructive.

Editorials on "Dangers of Moonshine," "Trouble in Silesia" and "Evils of Secrecy" will be found instructive, especially the latter, which says that the unrestricted exchange of international news would dispel the clouds of war.

Turn to the editorial page for good, wholesome reading. It will start a train of thoughts, invigorate the mental faculties and give you the viewpoint of other men.

KELLY WATER CO. TO BE CITY PROPERTY

W. W. Lee recently made application to the railroad commission for the commission's approval on the sale of a small water distributing system to the city of Glendale. The consideration agreed upon as to price is given as $860.

This system is known as the Kelly water system and consists of a quantity of distributing pipe. The Kelly Water Co. recently requested the city of Glendale to purchase the stock of the water system and pay $860, and to cancel a bill of $234.20 for water furnished the company by the city. The council agreed to purchase the stock of the company on condition that a tank on the property be removed and that the city be granted use of the water that accompanies the stock.

RAISING DOLLARS

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Oct. 25.—Federal agents are here investigating Mary Alquist, who gave her home as Los Angeles, arrested and charged with attempting a one-dollar bank note raised to fifty. Two of the raised notes were found in the woman's possession.

DRY FOR YEARS

LONDON, Oct. 25.—More than 100 men and women, each of whom claimed to have abstained from intoxicants for 50 years at least, have just assembled here as a feature of a prohibition gathering.

Church Bells, Tears, "Good-bye" To U. S. Hero

HAVRE, Oct. 25.—France today said "farewell" to the unknown American soldier, going home for his state burial at Arlington, among the nation's heroes. The church bells tolled a requiem as his train rolled slowly into the yards. The flags drooped at half-staff. Thousands of people, bareheaded, thronged the long mole and the points of vantage about the harbor to say "good-bye" to him.

Late News Flashes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The opening of the limitation of armaments conference will be postponed from Armistice day, November 11, to November 12, it was announced at the state department today.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—Jumping from a train early today while it was running in excess of 40 miles an hour, Charles Haynes, a prisoner, en route to Santa Ana, escaped from custody of Deputy Sheriff J. R. Fowler of the latter city.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The senate adopted the normal income tax section of the pending compromise tax bill. The present rates of four per cent on incomes of $4000 and 8 per cent on incomes over $4000 will be continued under the section.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—Hurling a large rock through a plate glass window at the store of the Trieste Jewelry company on West Sixth street, a band of daring burglars early today scooped up several thousand dollars' worth of jewelry and escaped.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Real beer may be sold in only eleven states, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, said today. They are Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, California, Louisiana and Wisconsin.

REDDING, Cal., Oct. 25.—Two convicts, Oattie Iglett and Frank Von Bojarski, who escaped from a prison camp at Big Bar, Trinity county, were captured here today by sheriff's operatives after a four-day pursuit through the forests. Both men have still five years to serve on seven-year sentences. They will be returned to Folsom prison tonight.

VIENNA, Oct. 25.—Guarded by two companies of soldiers, former Emperor Karl and his consort wept today as they sat in an upper room of the chateau Totis, near the field where their troops were crushed in battle. They will be detained in the castle until the allies send instructions as to what shall be done with them.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Irish peace delegates today declared the crisis in negotiations was past. British delegates said there was some improvement but the situation was still serious. Both agreed, however, as they resumed their meetings this afternoon, that the outlook for peace was more hopeful.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—Charles Erbstein, chief counsel for Madalynne Obenchain, will sue District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine for heavy damages for alleged defamation of character, following a sharp attack made by the district attorney in an effort to prevent the Chicago criminal lawyer from being permitted to practice before the California bar.

HURRICANE TAKES IN SOUTH FLORIDA

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 25.—A fifty mile an hour gale was reported blowing at Tampa just before all wire communication was lost with that city shortly after noon today. Street car service was reported interrupted, as was electric light and local telephone service. Sweeping the entire coast and southern end of the Florida peninsula and doing considerable damage to shipping and to the coast cities and towns, the terrific hurricane was sweeping north by east.

HALF MILLION IS ONE BANK'S PORTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—One bank lost $463,000 in negotiable securities in the robbery of a mail truck by armed bandits on lower Broadway last night, it was announced today. With the announcement of the loss, which was sustained by the Chase National Bank, postal inspectors believe that the total might exceed the original estimate of $1,000,000.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The government's annual report on mortality statistics for 1920, shows 1,142,578 deaths within the death registration area, representing a death rate of 13.1 per thousand, as compared with 12.9 in 1919. Fatalities from automobile accidents and injuries increased from 9.4 to 10.4 per hundred thousand.

MAILS TO MOVE

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Postmaster General Hays arrived here on his way from Sullivan, Ind., his home, to Washington. He had no comment to make on the threatened railroad strike and its effect on his department, beyond referring to his statement last week that every effort would be made to move the mails.

CARPENTER'S LOCAL HAS SOCIAL SESSION

As a prelude to their regular weekly meeting, Carpenters' Local No. 563 and Women's Label League No. 400 had a very interesting social evening last night. The music was furnished by the K. of P. orchestra. Mr. Hibbard, also of that lodge, gave a mystifying program with his experiments in magic. Classical dancing by Mildred and Elinor Thompson, and an interesting talk by H. Tibbets of the Los Angeles Carpenters' local, completed the program.

MRS. GESTEFIELD PASSES

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 25.—Rev. Ursula Newell Gestefeld, the founder of "Science and Being Movement," a lecturer and author, died Saturday afternoon after an illness of several months' duration. Mrs. Gestefeld was born in Augusta, Me., and later became a member of the coterie which gathered around Dr. Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of the Christian Science movement. She was a lecturer in Boston and Chicago.

GOLD ROOFS

GRASS VALLEY, Oct. 25.—Traces of gold amalgam can be found in the roofs of every Grass Valley house that has been standing for 20 years or more, according to local citizens familiar with mining conditions. Gold from near-by mines, it is claimed, reaches the roofs through the agency of wind and dust.

BUSSES FIGHT

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 25.—A hot 35 days' battle between street cars and busses began here today when 59 street cars started their second day of operation after a ten-week shut-down. Bankruptcy as the result of bus competition stopped the trolleys on August 3. Meanwhile, 100 busses charging 5-cent fares will compete on all car line streets against the street car.

MRS. SOUTHARD DENIES GIVING MEYER POISON

SEEMS MORE NERVOUS

Tells What Was Prepared for Supper Night Meyer
Was Sick

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Lyda Southard, alleged "bluebeardess," today took the witness stand in her own defense in the trial in which she is charged with the murder of Edward F. Meyer, her fourth husband.

Mrs. Southard answered the questions slowly and in a well modulated voice. She appeared to be somewhat nervous. She told of her visit to the Blue Lakes ranch on August 25, 1920, where Meyer was foreman, and of Meyer's sickness that night. She described the symptoms, which did not vary in detail from the symptoms described by other witnesses. The prosecution claims the symptoms are those of arsenical poisoning.

Asked by Chief Counsel W. P. Guthrie as to what had been served for dinner, she answered:

"Only warmed over beans, boiled potatoes and canned corn. That was all." The defense claims Meyer died from ptomaine poisoning from eating spoiled food. Asked regarding Meyer's health before she married him, Mrs. Southard said:

"He wasn't well and kept complaining to me. On July 3 we drove to Salt Lake City and I had to drive the machine because he wasn't well enough. He kept coughing. I asked him what was the matter. He said he had never recovered from the effects of pneumonia which he had in 1913."

"At any time did you administer arsenic to Meyer?" Guthrie asked.

"I did not—never," Mrs. Southard answered.

"Please explain about the flypaper which you purchased and took to the Blue Lakes ranch," Guthrie asked.

"My husband asked me to bring down to the ranch some fly-kicker—that is, some poison," she said. "I bought two packages from the drug store and took them with me the day I went to the ranch. I gave the packages to Mrs. Carrie How, the cook at the boarding house, and she put them out on the table."

"You heard the drug clerk testify that you bought 20 packages. Did you ever purchase any such amount?"

"No," replied the witness. "I bought the flypaper from that store, but I only bought two packages. My husband said the flies were bad at the ranch."

The attending physician testified that Meyer seemed greatly improved the morning before his death and then suffered a terrible relapse in the afternoon. The state alleges that this relapse was caused by the administration to him by Mrs. Southard of arsenic obtained from poison flypaper, after she had learned he was to survive the first dose she is alleged to have administered at the Blue Lakes ranch.

FOREIGNERS COME IN OUR BACK DOORS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The bureau of immigration of the Labor department, struggling with the requirements of the present immigration law, because of the quota limitations, has a new problem. Thousands of those being turned away from this country are going to Canada and to Mexico in an attempt to come in by the back door. Inspection service and available guards at border points are limited in number. They have always had their hands full. There are thousands of miles that are unprotected, and Caucasians slipping across the border are hard to detect. This is particularly true when they are European nationals who learned the English language before essaying an entry into this country.

The problem so far as Canada is concerned has been largely cared for by recent orders in council of the Dominion government just communicated to the labor department. These orders provide that no adult can enter Canada with less than $500 cash in pocket, and that every person over ten and under 21 must have $250. Heads of families must have the cash for every member of the family brought in.

Mexico is, however, a real and serious worry to the labor department. A high official stated today that at thousands of places where one can practically step across the Rio Grande there is real danger of an extended illicit traffic in aliens. There are reports to the labor department showing persons on either side of the border who watch the policing force and who can domicile a few persons at a time without fear of detection. They are turning this to a profit, in violation of the law.

Secretary Davis and other officials have under consideration methods to meet the situation. It is known that word is going back to many European countries that the way into the United States lies through Mexico, and literature advising this method of approach has been apprehended by officials.

Oregonians Not in on Ruling in Medicinal Beer

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 25.—The ruling allowing beer and wine to be sold for medicinal purposes affects Oregon thirsts not at all, Prohibition Director Linnville declared here today. Oregon is a prohibition state by its own constitutional act, providing a law far more stringent than the Volstead act, according to local Federal prohibition authorities.

PEROXIDE SOPHIE CAUSE OF TROUBLE

DENVER, Oct. 25.—George Ryan used peroxide on a black cow. A prospective buyer became suspicious of the spotted effect. George was arrested and faces a jail sentence.

MRS. KELLY DID NOT BAT AN EYE

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Robert Kelly sat watching a thrilling movie. Without taking her eyes off the film, she landed an uppercut on the jaw of the man sitting next to her. "I must have made a mistake," Isaac Cohen told the judge. "I didn't know I put my hand on her knee."

YEGGS USED TOO MUCH SOUP ON JOB

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 25.—Yeggs used so much explosive on the State Bank at Dale, 25 miles east of here, that they wrecked the building. The amount of loot is unknown.

LUCILLE LOVE LEFT HOME FOLLOWING DISAGREEMENT

Father Urges Police to Aid in Search for Daughter
Now

"Gentlemen, I am in trouble and I need your help. I have searched all night for my daughter and cannot find her. I am afraid that she has either ended her life or been abducted by some one."

This is the plea J. C. Love made to Chief of Police Martin this morning after an all-night search for his daughter Louise, who, according to her father, left home after a quarrel.

When he came into the police station tears were streaming down the father's face. He told the police that he had searched for the girl and when he returned to his home he expected to find that she had returned.

It is said that the girl, who is 19 years old, has had several disputes with her family recently and it was after one of the alleged disputes that she left her home. When she left the house, according to her father, she had no hat and had a shawl about her shoulders.

Chief Martin told the father that he and all of his officers would be on the lookout for the girl but that as she was legally of age the police could not force her to return if she did not want to nor could they arrest her except on a specific charge. The father stated that he had visited Los Angeles and had notified both county and city officials of the girl's disappearance and had been assured that officers would be on watch for her. Lucille Love is described as 5 feet 6 inches in height and has blond hair and blue eyes.

GLENDALE FOOTBALL TEAM DEFEATED ALHAMBRA BOYS

Glendale union high school's football team yesterday defeated the Alhambra team at Alhambra by a score of 14 to 0. This is the first league game the two teams have played. The first game did not count as both teams used men who, by the rules of the league, were ineligible to play.

According to Coach Hayhurst, Alhambra did some excellent work at Alhambra, in view of the fact that the team was crippled by the loss of Green, Fraley and Eliffer, who were out of the game on account of injuries.

Terzo, who played quarterback for Glendale, was easily the bright and shining star of the team. He made both touchdowns after almost phenomenal gains. The first touchdown was scored in the early part of the second half, and was made after an 85-yard run by Terzo. He made the second touchdown in the last 30 seconds of play after a 30-yard run. Both goals were kicked by Stoff.

While Terzo was the shining light credit must be given every member of the team, as each player did his best and played a brand of football that put a smile of satisfaction on the face of Coach Hayhurst that will not come off.

The game played last week with South Pasadena, in which Glendale was defeated, will either have to be replayed or forfeited by South Pasadena, as it is claimed they used a man who was ineligible to play under the 1921 rules.

The lightweight team goes to Azusa this afternoon to play the midget team of Citrus high school.

$2500 EXEMPTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Heads of families will be given a $2500 exemption of $2500 on incomes of $5,000 or less under the house provision in the pending tax revision bill adopted today by the senate without a record vote.

WOULD EXPEL CONGRESSMAN BLANTON, TEXAS

Charged Today in House
He Used "Bad Words"

DURING "UNION" ROW

"Filthy, Indecent, Oloscene," Says Charge of Floor Leader

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A resolution to expel Representative Thomas L. Blanton, democrat, Texas, from his seat in the house was introduced in the house today by Representative Mondell, republican floor leader.

The move to oust Blanton came as the result of remarks he caused to be printed in the Congressional Record on Saturday, October 22. This language, not delivered orally on the floor but printed in the Record as an extension of remarks, dealt with a row between union and non-union employees in the government printing office.

The remarks, the resolution stated, contain "filthy, indecent and obscene language, not worthy of a member of the house of representatives." Under an agreement between Mondell and Representative Garrett, acting democratic floor leader, the resolution would be voted on Thursday.

NATION'S INVALIDS MAY BE 'CURED' BY CALIFORNIA WINE

Fifteen Million Gallons
Ready for Doctors to Order for Patients

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—California stood ready to cure the nation's invalids with wine. Fifteen million gallons of the once famed California product now stored in various cellars and warehouses through the state was ready to answer the call of physicians' prescriptions as soon as wine growers receive official notice that wine and beer can be sold for medical purposes under yesterday's ruling of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. Breweries also were "ready to go."

"If the regulations are not too drastic and the physicians will be permitted to prescribe as much as a case a week, breweries should do a good business," declared H. D. Stratton, manager of the Ranier brewery.

IRISH CONFERENCE UP TO COMMITTEE

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The Irish conference was adjourned for an indefinite period here tonight. A standing committee, understood to be composed of two members of each delegation, will carry on the discussions. Allegiance of Ireland to the crown and the Ulster problems were the subjects of the afternoon discussion.

The Irish Press was informed by a reliable party that there will be no further meetings of a full conference. It was said by this source that a standing committee composed of Premier Lloyd George and Chamberlain for England; and Michael Collins and Griffith for Ireland, had been appointed. Irish delegates, however, after the session declared they expected another meeting.

JOHN M'HALE HELD BAD CHECK CHARGE

John S. McHale, 1425 East California, former employee of the city, was arrested last night on a charge of having given David Bisno a check without having sufficient funds in the bank to pay it. He was locked in the jail in South Glendale overnight and this morning was arraigned before Police Judge F. H. Lowe. Judge Lowe set the date for McHale's preliminary hearing for November 3 and set bail at $300, in default of which he will be committed to the county jail in Los Angeles until the date of his hearing.

BIGGEST INDUSTRY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—One hundred and fifty million dollars' worth of motion pictures were made in Los Angeles last year, according to the industrial report of the chamber of commerce, announced today. The film business is larger by 50 per cent than its nearest industrial rival in this section of the state—petroleum.

MRS. HARDING HAS SOCIAL ROW NOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A social row of widespread political possibilities is now being waged in Washington's most exclusive official set. The cause of the row is a "social order" issued by Mrs. Harding smashing the historic custom which gave the ladies of the cabinet the preferred places in the social line at official receptions. Now Mrs. Harding, whose wishes are law in Washington, has given the top rung of the social ladder to the ladies of the Senate.

DAMAGE

APPEALS TO REASON IN PROHIBITION LAW STARTED

Educational Plan to Make People Respect Dry
Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Get a new bird's-eye view of dry law enforcement. Picture rum-raiders waving flag instead of their clubs to subdue law-breakers. Imagine law enforcers invading the worst rum holes, still flourishing in a country legally dry, and making fervent appeals to patriotism of the wayward!

That's the new idea in checking violators of liquor laws. It's the new method of dry law chiefs in obtaining greater law observance. There is a real honest effort by these bosses in matters of rum to let the rule of reason govern. There is less of the fanatical disregard of the rights of citizens and more of a desire to make law enforcement a success by convincing the people that the Constitution is not a thing to be flouted.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, at close range, is found to be a man of the broad-gauged type. He's reasonable. He's bone dry, but not fanatical. Being a man of vision, he believes that more men can be won over to the cause of law enforcement by an appeal to intelligence and patriotism than by tactics which include the searching of hip-pockets for flasks of liquor. He believes that red-blooded Americans will listen to one and resent the other. And he now is proceeding upon that theory.

The dry law chief's policy, therefore, is to be educational, and part of his busy weeks hereafter may be occupied in speeches before representative gatherings around the country. His utterances will have patriotism for their keynote. As a public speaker, Haynes is rated highly. The coming months will find the Ohio oracle in many of the states east of the Mississippi, some of them still suspected of being "wet" strongholds. He will appear frequently before the public.

MAN HE KILLED IS STILL AMONG LIVING

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 25.—John Dietz declared before Gov. J. J. Blaine and the state board of control today that Oscar Harp, the deputy sheriff he was convicted of killing on October 8, 1910, was alive today, and that he had not met death during the fight the "Defender of Cameron Dam" made against arrest at his home in Sawyer county.

Dietz is asking for $5000 compensation from the state under a statute authorizing a grant of a maximum of $5000 for false imprisonment. He was recently pardoned by Gov. Blaine.

Affidavit was presented from John Rousseau of Rice Lake saying that he had seen Harp in Rice Lake City, Utah, in 1917. Dietz further declared that the bullet which was alleged to have killed Harp could not be made to fit the gun he had used, but that it was of special caliber suited to the gun of one of the other deputy sheriffs.

Dietz argued that witnesses, including the governor's secretary and the attorney general, provided false testimony at the trial and that the lumber company had bought up witnesses in order to bring his conviction.

Mrs. Charles Lukens, who has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Wilson of South San Fernando road, left this morning for her home in San Francisco.

TERSE HISTORY OUR WAR WITH SPAIN TOLD BY TEDDY

Relates in Diary How War
Department Mismanaged
Many Details

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A terse history of the Spanish-American war as seen by its most famous American participant, came to light yesterday when Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt presented the former president's diary to the Roosevelt Memorial Association.

The diary, in Roosevelt's handwriting, is a record of experience and impressions made up of laconic entries, some historical, some critical. Shards of characteristic pointedness were aimed at the "stupidity of the Ordinance Department," while the Colonel recorded the belief that in the War Department there was "no agreement at all."

The diary is a small pocket volume and contained notes in pencil and ink. No part of it has ever been published before. Some of the entries are:

May 6, 1898.—Commissioned as Lieut.-Col., U. S. Volunteer Cavalry. Wood as Colonel, by my choice.

May 7.—The delays and stupidity of the Ordinance Department surpass belief. The Quartermaster Department is better, but bad. The Commissary Department is good. There is no management whatever in the War Department. Against a good nation we should be helpless.

May 21.—The blunders and delays of the Ordinance Bureau surpass belief. They express us stuff we don't need, and send us rifles by slow freight. There is no head, no energy, no intelligence in the War Department.

May 24.—Quota nearly filled. It is astonishing how rapidly we have armed, mounted and drilled these men. Wood's power of work and executive capacity are wonderful.

May 30.—Railway system tends to break down. Interminable delays, no proper facilities for unloading horses, no rest, water or feed, etc., etc.

June 3.—Reached Tampa in morning. Railway system in wildest confusion. It took us 12 hours to get into camp with our baggage.

June 5.—No words can paint the confusion. No head. A breakdown of both the railway and military systems of the country.

June 6.—No plans. No staff officers. No instructions to us. Each officer finds out for himself and takes his chances. We are doing as well as the regular regiments. Have very light baggage.

June 8.—Told to go aboard transport. Worst confusion yet. No allotment of transports, no plans, utter confusion.

June 20.—Reached Santiago.

June 22.—Landed.

June 23.—Marched.

June 24.—Fought Las Guasimas. We drove enemy in fine shape. Lost 60 men killed and wounded, 20 slight.

July 1.—Rose at 4. Big battle. Commanded regiment. Field exercises front of firing line.

July 3.—Truce at noon. Spanish fleet destroyed.

July 4.—Truce. Mismanagement horrible. No head to army.

July 10.—Bombardment again.

July 11.—Truce again. Shifted camp a mile to extend lines. Heaviest rains yet, at night.

July 17.—Shifted camp to foothills. One-half of men of my regiment dead or disabled by wounds or sickness.

Mrs. Roosevelt also presented the Roosevelt Memorial Association with the spectacle case and manuscript of an address, pierced by a bullet aimed at Roosevelt in Milwaukee in 1912. It was from this manuscript that Roosevelt a half-hour later read his campaign speech with the assassin's bullet still embedded in his body.

WANTED DAUGHTER TO GO PARCEL POST

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—A thifty Hollander's attempt to send his daughter from Los Angeles to Holland by parcel post failed when the Los Angeles postoffice authorities informed him the regulations would not permit them to accept the girl for transmission through the mails.

A. Van Hagelund, a rancher, was the man who visited the postoffice on the novel mission, and Frieda Gretchen Van Hagelund, eight years old and weighing 69 pounds, was the "parcel" he hoped to send to Holland.

Van Hagelund told A. B. Foster, assistant postmaster, that he was too busy to return to Holland himself and that he had no relatives who could go with the child. Nevertheless, he wanted to send her to her grandparents in Amsterdam.

STARTING RIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The confiscation of all firearms less than three feet in length, heavier punishment for robbers, less prison reform and stricter enforcement of anti-narcotics laws are among the recommendations of United States judges, district attorneys and state officials, who have been asked by the National Surety Co. to suggest methods of checking daylight bank hold-ups which have cost surety companies more than $1,000,000 already this year.

KILLED BROTHERS

WARSAW, Oct. 25.—Harry Long, 17, son of Elam Long, a farmer, killed his two brothers, Kenneth, 5 years old, and Russell, 3 years old. The youth is believed to have become demented. The boys were playing at the Long farm when Harry seized an iron gas pipe and struck Kenneth, breaking his neck. Harry then rushed to his younger brother and fractured his skull.

Dr. A. M. Duncan, Miss Ida Meyers, H. W. Meyers and Mrs. L. E. Richardson visited the flower show at Exposition Park yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. McCann, 317 West Myrtle street, have as their guests Mrs. E. Peris of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and Miss Catherine Chambers of Berkeley. Miss Chambers will locate in Glendale permanently.

MEDICINAL BEER ORDER BE ATTACKED

Dry Leaders Say 15 Days
Will be as Long as it Lives

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Alling citizens who have been suffering for "medicinal beer," the 5 per cent kind, must take advantage of the new regulations by drinking hard and fast. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, promulgated the new medicinal beer regulations yesterday. Today the Anti-Saloon League and the drys in Congress prepared to knock the foaming beaker from the thirsty lips.

Under the regulations a "sick" person may have as many as 24 pint bottles of beer every 24 hours. Beer can be purchased only from registered pharmacists and on prescription from physicians. The maximum amount is 24 pints on one prescription every 24 hours.

Anti-Saloon League leaders and the drys in the Senate were at work early today planning to prevent any widespread sale of beer. Before breweries can start manufacture of real stuff their applications must first be approved, Wayne B. Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon League said. Drys have evidence that most of the breweries have violated the law within the last year, he said, and therefore, will be unable to obtain the necessary permits. Wheeler predicted that the "beer era" would last only about 15 days, being hopeful the anti-beer bill would be passed by the Senate in that time.

Yell Leader—Dana Van Loon has been elected yell leader of the boys at Intermediate school by members of the athletic league.

Visits Ranch—A. R. Eastman, vice president of the Glendale bank, returned from a week-end spent on his ranch in the San Joaquin valley. Mr. Eastman is owner of a 170-acre ranch there and recently sunk two wells and installed an electric pump plant. He made the trip to the valley to inspect them.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if You Feel Backache or Have
Bladder Trouble

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

FATHER ADMITS NOT KNOW DAUGHTER MARRIED BEFORE

Mrs. Southard is Visibly Disturbed by Testimony Today

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Oct. 25.—Despite the fact that W. J. Trueblood, father of Mrs. Lydia Southard, alleged "bluebeard" was put on the witness stand by the defense to testify in her behalf, many points which the prosecution believes will weigh strongly against the accused woman were brought out in cross-examination, which was continued today.

Mrs. Southard listened to the testimony of her father with the only snow of emotion she has evidenced thus far in her trial on a charge of murdering her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer.

District Attorney Frank L. Stephan obtained from Trueblood the admission that the latter did not know, at the time of Meyer's funeral, that his daughter had ever been married to Harlan C. Lewis of Billings, Mont., her third husband, upon whose death she collected $5,000 insurance.

JACQUELIN LOGAN SAYS CAR PRESENT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—Jacquelin Logan, Zeigfeld Follies beauty, now in motion pictures here, was to appear in superior court today to explain her relationship with a $2500 automobile which R. Crane Gartz, youthful Altadena millionaire, says he did not give her. Gartz alleges that Miss Logan, who has just completed a contract with the Mack Sennett comedies, mistook his intention of simply loaning her the automobile in question and accepted it as a gift.

Miss Logan views the matter in another light. She and Gartz were engaged, she said. He gave her the automobile. She spent her own money and had it refinished and upholstered. It's so pretty now that Gartz wants it back. These are Miss Logan's assertions and, according to her attorneys' assertions, she intends to fight it out on this line if it takes a full theatrical season.

HEAVY OIL SECRET CREMONA VIOLINS

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Heavy oil is the secret of the melodious timbre of Cremona violins, according to Professor Koch, of Dresden, who will start a workshop for the production of artificial master violins in Middle Germany this winter. Fritz Kreisler, Bronislav Huberman and Perry Lorrant will play on the professor's imitations during the coming Berlin concert season.

Professor Koch discredits the old theory that age, kind, or varnish of the wood of the violins being played for years by prominent virtuosi have anything to do with the sweet tones of the Italian viola.

The resonance is particularly due to the absolute regularity of vibrations caused by wood of extraordinary density. This density is attained by painting the violins with a mixture of rapidly-drying oils, which penetrate the wood, thus rendering it particularly resonant.

ARTHUR C. BURCH TO BE TRIED FIRST IN KENNEDY CASE

Woolwine, Attacks Character Defense Chicago
Lawyer's Record

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—Arthur C. Burch, alone, will stand trial on November 1 for his alleged part in the mystery assassination of John Belton Kennedy. Madalynne Obenchain, whose beauty and charm the state will claim was the primary cause of the Kennedy tragedy, will not face a jury until Burch's fate is sealed.

With the smashing victory of a conviction of separate trials to his credit, Charles Erbenstein of Chicago, chief of Madalynne's defense, today faced District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine in what promises to be one of the bitterest personal fights on the records of the Southern California bar. Woolwine announced that he would "fight to the last ditch" in opposing admission of the Chicago attorney to appear in a southern California court.

"Shyster," "trickster," "damnable," "crooked," these were some of the white-hot words hurled between Woolwine and Erbenstein when the latter appeared before Judge Sidney Reese yesterday to ask that Madalynne Obenchain be granted a trial separate from that of Arthur C. Burch. Woolwine branded Erbenstein as a man unfit to practice in California. He produced a telegram signed by Macley Hayne, former state's attorney for Cook County, Illinois, in which Erbenstein's character was vigorously attacked.

RULES FOR MAN ARE GIVEN BY PARISIANS

PARIS, Oct. 25.—Having elected what they considered was the handsomest man in France, French women are now busy framing rules which such a man should observe in married life, as follows:

Never dare to give orders to a wife even for her own good.

Never commit the crime of being a bore.

Never resemble a preacher or school-master.

Avoid assassinating the wife with good advice or wise examples taken from his own family.

Offer everything before she has asked for the slightest thing.

Above all, learn to forgive the wife when the husband is mistaken and to approve of her when the husband is right.

NOT SPURGIN

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 25.—Denial that the body found in the Pershing Hotel here Friday is that of Warren C. Spurgin, missing president of the Michigan Avenue Trust Co. of Chicago, was made here today by Chicagoans in this city. The suicide, it was stated, was a man of only five feet ten inches, while Spurgin, it is said, was six feet three inches. The dead man weighs 165 pounds while Spurgin, it was declared, weighed 100 pounds more.

FRESH EAGLE

VANDERHOOF, B. C., Oct. 25.—A bald eagle, with a wing spread of seven feet, today attempted to carry away a 9-year-old girl named Gibbs from the veranda of her home. Struggles of the child and her mother prevented the bird from getting away, and it finally was beaten to death by Matthew Sample. The girl received a flesh wound.

who's your printer?

—a question you have probably never given much thought. Most buyers of printing think that as long as type gets on paper it will answer their needs.

This is not a fact. A printer must interpret the purpose the advertiser has in mind and must select type to suit each particular job.

Our Job Printing Department is under the management of capable craftsmen, who understand the correct uses of type and can "put over big" any class of printing which you may have.

Our creative department is at your service, free of charge, ready to furnish suggestions on all classes of printing.

GLENDALE HUNTERS SCHOOL BOARD WILL DISCUSS STREET IMPROVEMENT

Preserves Will be Leased for Members for Week-End Trips

Plans are being discussed for the organizing of a hunting and fishing club in Glendale. Gus Wangerheim and S. Game are at the head of the movement and any one interested is asked to communicate with Mr. Wangerheim at Neale & Gregg's hardware store. The membership of the club will be limited to 30 and all must be bona fide residents of this city. The club fee will be very reasonable and will be used to provide a meeting place for members. There will be exclusive hunting and fishing grounds for members in Alamitos Bay swamp, Pine Lake and Lost Lake.

The club will plan hunting and fishing parties for week-ends and will give out information regarding what game is in season and where this game may be secured.

SOCCER GAMES IN LEAGUE MONDAY

The soccer game between teams of Colorado street and Central avenue schools in the Inter-School League, last night, resulted in a tie score of 1 to 1. It was played on the Central avenue campus.

The game between Doran and Pacific teams ended in a score of 6 to 1 in favor of Doran. The star players on Doran's team were Pedro Victorino, Norval Stanley and Fred Vick.

Doran is credited with an exceptionally strong team in view of the fact that its A5 and A6 grades are in one room, whereas those grades take two or three rooms in most of the other schools.

Tonight Intermediate's team goes to Eagle Rock to play its second league game. At the present time Intermediate is heading the Tri-School League.

Mr. and Mrs. George Blanchett of 371 Pioneer drive returned home this morning from a motor trip to San Diego and Coronado. They left Glendale Friday and spent several enjoyable days at the Coronado Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bagg, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Wyckoff and son, Frank, all of Glendale, visited friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gray in Los Angeles last evening. They are all former residents and friends of Des Moines, Ia.

Bond Issue Will Probably be Made Available in December

The regular meeting of the Glendale board of education will be held tonight at Intermediate school. Reports will be made by President David Hibben and Superintendent Richardson D. White concerning the electric wiring of Cerritos avenue school, which they have inspected and which has also been inspected by an expert electrician.

They will also report concerning the removal of eucalyptus trees on the Cerritos campus in carrying out the plan adopted for playgrounds. Mr. White states there has been no intention to remove all the trees nor to sacrifice any that could be left without interfering with playground purposes.

A communication received from the Glendale city council giving the estimated costs of proposed street improvements to school property abutting thereupon, has been received by Mr. White and will be submitted to the board tonight.

This communication is a sequel to a conference between the city council and members of the board of education relative to financing such improvements. The total estimated cost of the proposed street improvements is about $12,000. The current budget of the board is close to the tax limit, the present tax rates being as follows:

District tax, elementary schools, 29 cents; legal limit of tax, 30 cents per $100 of valuation.

Building fund tax, 13 cents; maximum allowance, 15 cents per $100 of valuation.

Kindergarten tax, 14 cents; maximum allowance, 15 cents per $100 of valuation.

To undertake to raise the $12,000 would probably carry the tax beyond the legal limit.

The board has asked the city attorney to give an opinion as to whether bonds for street improvements could be issued by a school district under the present laws.

Mr. White states that the legal technicalities preliminary to the sale of the $260,000 bond issue will probably take considerable time and the sale of the bonds can hardly be expected before the middle of the last of December.

Attend Meeting—The Social Service Workers of Los Angeles met last night in the City Club quarters. The large banquet hall was overflowing and some very interesting speakers were present. Those from Glendale included Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Root and Dr. Caroline Paine Jackman.

WHAT A PICKLE THE RED COW WAS IN!
By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by The Associated Newspapers.)

"Oh!" sighed Nibble Rabbit. "Step into the Deep Woods and you step into trouble, every time." He was feeling so sorry for the Red Cow. She'd done worse than step in; she'd jumped in, through the hole she had bunted in the gate that was put up specially to keep cows out of the Deep Woods. Now she couldn't get back again.

"I know it," she answered sadly. "But I had to chase those foxes. I'm just so scared of them!"

"Scared!" exclaimed Chips Beaver, for he'd seen the way she charged those two bushy-tailed highwaymen, who held up Tad Coon—held him up in a tree for ever so long in hopes of catching him.

The big beast nodded. "Mm-hmm," she loved. "Because of my horns. That's what Mother Nature gave them to us for in the First-off Beginning. We only use them when we're afraid. My own mother taught me that when we were wild, before I went to live in Tommy's barn. That's where I ought to be now. It's time for milking."

Chips was completely puzzled. What did a youngster brought up in the Secret Pond know about "wild" or "tame"? But Nibble Rabbit did. "Listen, Red Cow!" he broke in excitedly. "Watch the Dog can't blame you this time. He wasn't here to drive those foxes away. He should have been. That's in the Compact between the cows and Man."

"But they weren't in our woods and fields," moaned the cow. "No, I've gone wild again."

"Don't you worry," begged Tad. "When I explain that dog will be proud of you. He won't do any growling. And, the minutes you get into the lane I'll bring you all the corn you can eat. I'll—"

"When I get in the lane, When—" she sighed hopelessly. "You can explain to Watch. But even he can't explain to Tommy Peele. You don't understand. Then men will say I'm 'brave' (that means a beast who breaks fences), and they'll tie a board over my face so I can't see where I'm going. I know: I wore one for ever and ever so long. If your man can't trust you it's mighty hard to be tame. But I have to be milked, so I can't go wild again."

Dr. Muskrat had been listening with his head on one side. Now he spoke up. "I have a plan. What if Chips and I can gnaw off this—this—"

"Gate," said the cow. "If you could—if you only could—then I'd get to the barn. They'd know some cow had been out, but they wouldn't know which one—and no one could tell them!"

Next Story—The Gate That You Couldn't Cut Down.

MOTOR PARTY NORTH VISIT RAY FRANKLIN

A party of Glendale people, made up of Ralph Franklin, Miss Ella Franklin, and Miss Grace Franklin, of North Adams street, left Monday evening for San Francisco, where they will visit their brother, Ray Franklin, a regular in the U. S. Army, who has recently been transferred to a San Francisco cantonment from the Philippines. Accompanying them on their trip north was Kenneth Peterson of 1410 East California avenue. They will stop at Lodi, where they will visit Benjamin Franklin, who left Glendale several weeks ago to attend an academy, and plan to take him to San Francisco with them if he can be granted several days leave from his school duties.

Ray Franklin, a former Glendale resident, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Franklin of North Adams street. He enlisted two years ago and during that time has been stationed in many interesting places, among them being Siberia, Japan, the Philippines and the Hawaiian Islands. It has been over four years since Ralph Franklin has seen his brother and a matter of two years for the rest of the family.

A furlough has been applied for and, if granted, Ray Franklin will return south with the party for a visit with his parents. The party motored north in Ralph Franklin's car, going by way of the inland route and expect to return via the coast route the last of the week.

Mrs. J. I. Warnette, who recently moved to Patterson avenue, is leaving Wednesday morning for Michigan where she will visit her parents and other relatives and friends in Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, also in Chicago.

Will Entertain—Mrs. Dwight Stephenson of 327 West Cypress street will entertain at luncheon on Wednesday Mrs. John C. Wilson of Los Angeles.

BACK TO BETHEL IS SERMON SUBJECT

At the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds used as a text the words of God to Jacob, "I am the God of Bethel," referring him back to the time in his young manhood when at Bethel he had met God and covenanted his life and service in return for God's helping care.

In the past experience of every believer there are sacred spots. Sacred graves, sacred resting places—"the Lord was there." And those places in the Christian faith—Christmas with its manger, Bethany and the loved household, Calvary with all that it means, Olivet with the Ascension and "This same Jesus shall so come again," Patmos with "Surely I come quickly. Even so come, Lord Jesus!" these are blessed and sacred memories.

So Bethel was such a place. Remember first Abraham there. And now Jacob was come back again to the place of his old vow, and at that place God met him. There is a spiritual significance to Bethel. What does it mean to you to go back there?

First, it means going back to the faith of our fathers, to the place of those who believed God meant what He said. There are too many who are afraid or ashamed to stand there; they think it "out of date." We do indeed live in an advanced day and are progressive. Yet we shall resist with all our power efforts to get us away from the foundations by some other revelation. We want no substitute for the gospel of Jesus Christ. The Word is forever the same. Again, back to Bethel means back to your early faith. "The Cross is no place for a Christian to stop." Oh, but there are many professed Christians who really have not made any progress beyond there; you need to get back to the Cross and get assurance beyond shadow of doubt, your Bethel, and then come along from there over again. We live in a busy world, the voice of God is drowned out, so we need a holy quiet hour when we shall see God.

Back to Bethel means back to the place of our forgotten vows. "Jacob, do you remember that place of your vow? Your trouble there and your promise? You forgot; here are these idols among your things." Are there any idols in our hearts? Possibly; perhaps even a little child; maybe a desire for money, position, power. Oh, tear out the idols! People let the last little thing take the place of an idol and prevent God's service. You expect God to be hearing you—get back to Bethel, all you who have made your vows to God.

And again, back to Bethel means back to God. Not to an experience, or anything else, but to God himself. The God we serve is a living personality, with a supernatural influence in our lives. Jacob, clever man that he was, one who could do things and make money, when he came back to this place again called it "El Bethel," "the God of the House of God."

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Luster at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

EVILS OF SECRECY

Unrestricted exchange of international news would dispel the clouds of war.

Such was the belief expressed by V. S. McClatchy as he addressed a press convention in Honolulu. It may strike the mind as radical, but in it is to be discerned logic and truth.

The censorship that suppresses news lends itself to deception. People of one nation may be unaware of the sentiment and conduct of another nation. This is because there is some potent influence, diplomatic, political or military, that causes the withholding of information. Such information as is allowed to circulate favors one set of ambitions. While it may not lack verity altogether, to place a proper estimate upon it in the absence of any showing from the opposition, is impossible.

In a case at law, the plea of one side, without the counterbalance of a plea from the other side, would be unjust and absurd.

That there is any people on earth of which the rank and file desire war, is improbable. Yet the danger of war exists in Europe. It hangs as a vague and shadowy threat over the Pacific. Why? Ignorance that might be swept away by presentation of the facts. Prejudice due to leadership that declines to take the public into its confidence. Hidden motives, concealed orders, veiled and sinister purposes. These constitute the answer.

The desire for conquest is not a trait of the populace. The populace is relied upon to do the fighting. The citizen of the United States, of England, Italy or France does not have an ambition to trample the fields of his neighbor. What he wants is liberty, a chance to make a living; to exist in peace and reasonable comfort. It becomes then his right to know what his government is doing. He is wronged when his government makes compacts in the dark; when it hides the truth from him, creating false impressions, deceiving him.

The spirit of censorship is wrong. The policy of slyness makes for trouble, not for tranquility.

Even now there are rumors of underground agreements that must have a bearing on the outcome of the disarmament conference. If delegates come, not as representatives of the people for whom they are supposed to speak, but hampered by pledges entered into by stealth, the influence of the gathering cannot but be weakened and its purposes thwarted.

The people of the world clearly are entitled to the news of the world.

WHERE ALL AGREE

President Harding said in his Yorktown address: "One need not picture a world sovereignty governing over all the various races, traditions and national cultures, because it will never be."

He said much else of value. The sense of devotion to country, of gratitude to other nations, was given full expression. The appeal for world co-operation was strong. The warnings were timely. Nevertheless the sentence quoted seems to stand out from the context. It catches the eye, and it speaks to the mind.

Every people in civilization has its peculiar pride; pride in its record and in its individuality. The very peculiarities that mark it off from other peoples are prized. There is no wish to efface the dividing lines. There are broad principles of justice that are dear to all these peoples, heritage common to the race.

In certain conditions, the ordinary differences in modes of life are swept aside. So it was in the world war. The United States, England, France and Italy were joined for a common purpose. The integrity of the whole social edifice depended upon success in the struggle. There had been an attempt to undermine the cornerstone of the structure.

After the war the nations sought, each its own place, and each, to resume its wonted labors. There is not one that would yield its sovereignty, not one that would relinquish sway in its own domain. Grateful they may be, friendly, mutually helpful; ready to unite if need be again to save the common cause. But they are separate entities destined to remain so. And none would have it otherwise.

DANGERS OF "MOONSHINE"

Prohibition officers faced a fusillade of bullets near Burbank recently. Discretion, having some advantage over valor, they did not face it long. On the contrary they turned their vanishing backs to it, and got away whole. Later they arrested the users of the pistols.

The incident illustrates a new danger in moonshine liquor. The stuff itself tends to add to the mortality record. If the makers of it are going to offer armed resistance, the potency of the liquid for evil becomes accentuated.

However grave the perils, moonshiners would be rash to think that violence is going to get them anywhere, at least, anywhere they might desire to be.

When the people voted prohibition into the constitution that act in itself was evidence that they wanted the terms enforced. They did not create the law for the purpose of seeing it mocked by a lot of bootleggers of high or low degree; if there is a high degree to be found in the collection.

The time went by long ago when any defense could be made of the whisky habit. There is no defense to be set forth for those who for gain seek to perpetuate the habit. Society sober, admittedly, is superior to society drunk.

Enforcement of prohibition has been made more difficult than had been anticipated. The task is stupendous. Nevertheless prohibition can be enforced, and will be, because such is the desire of the people.

There are many dangers in "moonshine," but there is no danger that it is to control the conduct or shape the destinies of a people that has condemned and outlawed it.

TROUBLE IN SILESIA

The League of Nations has made apportionment of Silesian territory in a manner that seems not to please anybody intimately concerned.

At first the terms of settlement were believed to threaten the existence of the German government. Men high in the government had declared that such would be the result. They seem to have reconsidered. Apparently they intend to do all they can to prevent collapse.

In brief, it seems that Silesian territory was deemed essential to the industrial life of Germany. The residents of the section in question desired to enter Germany. They expressed this preference by vote, on the understanding that their decision was to determine the matter. To all appearances the decision has been ignored. Perhaps the wisdom of such course will be vindicated in the future. Just now the likelihood that it may result in war cannot be overlooked.

Americans who argued for their contention that the troubles of Europe were nothing to this country, had their way. They may have been in error. They may have been in error not alone in theory but in fact.

Supposing that the influence of the allies that suffered most from the world war has been sufficient to do an injustice: The question then arises whether the membership of the United States would not have been a saving element. The United States would have been a leader; leadership had been proffered. Under its leadership the bitter partisanship of Europeans might, and probably would have been held in check.

Taking this view of it—not at all an unreasonable view—by its refusal to accept responsibility, the United States has acquired morally, the blame for the wrong that the League has done; if such wrong has been done.

WOMEN IN POLITICS

By Dr. Frank Crane

Another woman has been elected to the house of commons and will now be the playmate of Lady Astor.

She is Mrs. Thomas Wintringham, widow and a member of Louth.

She has been elected as a liberal and succeeds her husband, who died in the house of commons library.

Other women have in recent years taken their place in national councils. We have had women in the national legislature of the United States. A woman delegate has sat in the meeting of the League of Nations at Geneva.

These two women are now members of the house of commons in England. Other women have been chosen for elective and appointive positions in other states.

These are but drops before the coming shower. There is little doubt that more and more women will take their place in public life, for the reason that that is where they naturally belong. And that is the position for which their peculiar temperament and qualities fit them.

Government is a woman's business—not a man's. It is in the nature of housekeeping. The man's business is to produce, to work, and to adventure. The natural sphere of a woman is to conserve what he gains.

And that is all government ought to be—merely a taking care of the results which man has attained. Some people look upon the entrance of women into politics as threatening the home, and they are sad.

Others look upon the same thing and are gleeful, because they do not believe in the home. Both of these are wrong.

Woman will never lose her place in the home. That is where she naturally belongs, and so long as there are homes women will rule them, and so long as there are children women will bring them up.

But the point is that woman is an individual. She is engaged in the home business, which is the conserving business, just as man is engaged with the outside world, which is the producing business.

And there is no reason why she should have her place in the affairs of state as well as the outside adventurer. Indeed, a mind trained to the care of children and the affairs of a home is better qualified to run affairs of state than a mind that has been trained in a lawyer's office or a dry goods store.

Little by little we are coming to see the folly of the idea of government leadership. It is not the business of a government to lead. Leadership is the province of the individual life and voluntary organizations. The sole business of government is to preserve the peace and maintain the mutual rights of individuals and voluntary organizations.

In other words, government ought to govern and not to rule. Governments should follow and not lead. Government is preservative and not constructive.

In proportion as we get hold of this idea we shall see that government is peculiarly woman's place. Let us hope that the time is not far off when all mayors, governors, presidents, councillors and legislators, or at least the majority of them, are feminine.

This will release a lot of husky men who had better be out making a living and doing something constructive.

THE LISTENING POST

Many good things in the world go by threes.
Thus the other day we had something of food,
warmth and light.

Then there is faith, hope and charity.
Morning, noon and night.
And today we have another trinity of things worth writing about.

Stop, look and listen!
You may have noticed the admonitions at a railroad crossing.

And if you were wise you heeded them.
For they were put there for a purpose.
To warn you of possible danger.

A great many people pay little attention to warnings of any kind.
They rely upon Providence to protect them.
Not realizing that Providence has a lot to do.
Or may sometimes nod, as Homer did.

The origin of popular expressions is interesting.
Thus Homer was a bard of the old days.
Who went about reading his verses perhaps.
And was supposed to hold the interest of his hearers.

But sometimes, naturally enough he grew drowsy.
And the thread of his story may have been snapped with a snore.

And thus we say Homer nods.
When someone makes a slip or fall into error.

But to get back to the stop, look and listen things.
We learn by listening.
The best way in the world to learn is to listen to somebody who knows something.

And is willing to talk.

For we learn so much more by listening than we do by talking.

And many of us talk so much we have no time to listen.
And thus we fail to learn.

And it seems to be growing harder and harder for people to listen.

Because they want to talk all the time.

And you can't listen and talk at the same time.
So we need to cultivate listening as a fine art.
Especially when there is something worth listening to.

But there are other things to be gathered from the stop, look and listen things than mere admonition.

We pass by the garden, perhaps.
We are attracted by a rare flower.
We stop to observe the flower.
We look the better to see it.

SONGS OF THE POETS

"There Was a Little Girl"—Author unknown

There was a little girl, who had a little curl
Right in the middle of her forehead,
And when she was good, she was very, very good,
But when she was bad, she was horrid.

She stood on her head, on her little trundle-bed,
With nobody by for to hinder;
She screamed and she squalled, she yelled and she bawled,

And drummed her little heels against the winder.
Her mother heard the noise, and thought it was the boys
Playing in the empty attic.
She rushed upstairs, and caught her unawares,
And spanked her, most emphatic.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

Papers concerning the Bergdoll case have been stolen. It seems as though that crowd simply couldn't be honest.

Candy received anonymously through the mails should be sent to the chemist.

Herr Scheidemann, having been the target for the pistol of the opposition, may be given high rating among German statesmen.

The allegation that certain bunko men of Los Angeles get police protection is irritating to law-abiding citizens who can't get such protection for themselves.

Borah couldn't kill the German treaty although he turned the hot breath of his opposition upon it in volume that suggested a cloud of poison gas.

Two congressmen heatedly accused each other of lying. The remarks of both were expunged from the records without the soundness of their allegations being established.

A Chicago man was drowned in a cask of his own brew. Perhaps the stuff taken internally would have been less immediate in effect.

The government owns uncompleted wooden hulls that cost $58,475,000. They are valued now at $199,000, and no bidders. Not a fine example of economy, but as an instance of depreciation probably unrivalled.

President Harding courteously refused to argue with a woman. His politely phrased declination gave him his only chance to have the last word.

Half the British population receives government aid and the half that foots the bill breaks a well-known rule by knowing how the other half lives.

"Teach Earth Is Flat at Zion," says a headline. Well, perhaps it is flat there.

Nearly as may be learned from police reports, auto bandits now rob victims for gain, and then shoot them for amusement.

A widow whose picture the papers have the unkindness to publish is quoted as saying she will not "marry an Apollo." Study of the picture indicates strongly that she is correct in her guess.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

SIGNIFICANT FIGURES

[Boston Transcript]

Figures given out in London are of real significance, as showing the progress made up to Sept. 15. Up to that time the Germans had destroyed 32,000 guns, leaving only 102 more to be destroyed; they had destroyed 34,000,000 tons of loaded shells, leaving a remaining balance of but 1,000,000 tons. By Sept. 15, 83,556 machine guns and 4,160,000 rifles had gone to the junk heap, leaving a balance of only 2852 machine guns, and 163,000 rifles to be scrapped. The Germans, furthermore, prior to Sept. 15, had scrapped vast quantities of other types of small arms, together with the ammunition that went with them.

This is a creditable showing, and the credit for it belongs largely to the Wirth government. In the light of these figures it seems clear that Germany today has discarded the plumes, helmets and trappings of war. Her swords for the time being have gone—and let us hope that they have become ploughshares. As a military power the allies need fear little from her in her present state. Yet a spirit of militarism may survive, even though shorn of the implements with which it makes war. The "Watch on the Rhine" must be maintained for many years to come, even though, as time goes on, it may prove practicable to reduce the number of sentinels on post.

TIDAL WAVE STILL FOAMS

[Detroit Free Press]

Viewed in a national light, the election of Senator Bursum in New Mexico may fairly be considered a victory for the Harding administration. It is also an indication that the national revolt against the democratic party that was emphasized so strongly a year ago has not subsided.

The contest was between a democrat reputed to be strongly progressive in his tendencies and a republican who belongs to the regular organization, and is every thing in republicanism that such men as Senator Johnson and Borah are not. So far as the personalities of the candidates were concerned, the issue was not blurred in the slightest degree. It was a fight between a democrat and a republican who could not be expected to give the slightest aid or comfort to an enemy of the administration either inside or outside of the republican party.

The majority by which Senator Bursum won appears to run up into the thousands, and while it will be small when judged by Michigan standards it is to be remembered that New Mexico is a state where elections have turned upon majorities measured in hundreds.

Comment on the News

By HENRY JAMES

A dispatch from Omaha says this: "On account of the prevailing low prices of corn, much of the crop in the vicinity of Oshkosh, Neb., will not be taken out of the fields."

There are many reasons for thinking about this. It means that in the heart of the corn belt, where the crop is heavy, it is not considered worth picking. Seed gone to waste. Months of labor for nothing. No return on heavy investments in land. All this when a large part of the world is hungry. When farmers in Montana have had to watch their stock starve to death. What is the matter with the world? Either men are stupid, incapable of grasping opportunity, or they are victims of the most untoward circumstances.

While the price of eggs is high, and chickens in the market are high, poultrymen assert that they do not make money. Often they have had to retire from the business at a loss in order to prevent greater loss. They give us a reason for the excessive cost of feed. An important element in this feed is cracked corn. They cannot afford to buy cracked corn. The farmers of Nebraska cannot afford to harvest the corn. Meanwhile there are hundreds of thousands of freight cars idle. There is no more corn in the world than the world needs. The consumer can't get it. It must rot in the field, or serve as forage for cattle. The law of supply and demand is out of gear.

Doctors propose to feed sheep's glands to defective children, and by this method endow them with mind and spirituality. The sheep itself is not notable for either quality. If these glands, rationed out to the deficient, have the effect sought, it must be in defiance of dietetic rules as commonly understood. The idea that character depends upon food would differentiate widely the mortal addicted to mutton and the one with a leaning towards beef. The consumer of fish would be a thing apart. The strict vegetarian could not look or act like his neighbors. As a matter of fact there is no way to distinguish one of these classes from the other, unless seen at table, or heard to enlarge upon their own fads.

Sending a box of candy through the mails no longer is an extraordinary method of attempting murder. The fashion was set by Cordelia Botkin of this state some twenty-five years ago. Mrs. Botkin had fallen in love with a married man, and by a gift of candy induced his wife to depart this life, also killing the wife's sister out of the same box. The murderer was convicted and given a life sentence, which she served. Until the recent experience of Mrs. Peete, the Botkin case had been the only one in which the California courts had convicted a female assassin. In the interval, however, there have been a number of this type who won the hearts of the jury.

Some weeks ago a yacht was stolen from Los Angeles harbor. When at last it was picked up at sea there was but one man aboard. He explained that he had been ignorant of the theft of the vessel, having been hired by the captain. The captain, most unfortunately, had been known overboard. By the sailor? O no. A swinging boom had finished the wicked captain. Perhaps the tale of the sailor is true. Anyhow, the wisdom of a Solomon would be necessary to the disproving of it.

Chinese statesmen say that Japanese are a peril to the world. The charge is usually made true. They are a peril to China, and no nation the size of China is going to be rent by the ambitions of a neighbor without making a commotion that will disturb the continents.

Probably there will be more distinguished foreigners in this country for the disarmament conference than ever have been present at any one time. Lloyd George, Ferdinand Foch, Aristide Briand, Beatty, Balfour—the list might be extended. These gentlemen all come in a spirit of amity and helpfulness. They are not dreamers. They do not imagine that November 11 the process of rebuilding the world is to be inaugurated, or at least, they do not expect the process to be perfected during the session.

EAGLE ROCK—The Gem Foothill City—Welcomes All Who Desire Homes in a Section Surpassed by None.

NEW TELEPHONES BEING INSTALLED

Growth of City Get Far Ahead of Various Public Servants

At last Eagle Rock people are to get more telephones. A company of men with equipment have been working in Eagle Rock for the past several days installing phones, and it is stated, will not stop the good work until all applicants have been served. This is good news as many have had in applications for phones for the past year or more, and have had to patiently wait the pleasure of the telephone company.

So rapid has been the growth of the city the past few months that the business men have been unable to cope with the increased demands made upon them. They have added to their stocks, provided more room in their stores and otherwise made changes to accommodate the people. And right here it is well to note that the spirit of trade at home seems to be more prevalent than ever before, which indicates that Eagle Rock city is on the road to great growth and development.

RITCHEYS RETURN FROM LONG TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Ritchey have returned from a several weeks tour of the north and east, where they report having had a most delightful time. They went by the coast route to San Francisco, then to Vancouver, and on to Canada, visiting Montreal and other points. They spent a time at Niagara Falls, Boston and on their return touched many of the middle west cities. They made the trip by automobile, and Mr. Ritchey says had the time of their lives. They are glad to get back home, as they found no place which suited them so well as Eagle Rock. Mr. Ritchey is one of the prominent and progressive men of Eagle Rock, who do things.

Mrs. Charles Ellis was a visitor to Pasadena, yesterday.

BUILDING BOOM IS STILL VERY ACTIVE

Live Wire Men in Business Makes City Grow Rapidly

Many years ago Eagle Rock's business center was located in the 700 block on East Colorado street, and doubtless it would have been there now had the owners of large tracts of land accepted a reasonable price for their property and allowed it to have been cut up into town lots, but, it is stated, they held out for a high price, and other adverse conditions were against the move to hold business, and one by one the business houses were moved to Central and Colorado. The bank also moved, but left behind it a good building with a large vault. And it is said this vault may again house the "Almighty" dollar.

During the last few months there has been great activity in building and real estate in this the heart of Eagle Rock. A drug store, a barber shop, a garage, two grocery stores and a good furniture store have been put in, and when the new stucco block is completed in the 700 block a bakery will also be put in, it is stated.

When live-wire business men locate in a community it means progress, hence, it is opportune to add here that several live real estate firms have located on the east side and are pushing things. H. E. Barnum & Company, Charles B. Guthrie and Nelson & Woodhouse are in the field selling real estate at a rate that would make the average small town man look on with wonder. Barnum and Guthrie have large connections from the outside, and will accomplish for the East side what very few real estate firms would be able to do. They have plans which they are working out that will make the East side grow very rapidly.

W. T. Lewis has leased his property at 210 North Martwick to H. H. Walling of San Francisco, and will shortly move to Seattle. Mr. Shattuck is salesman for a San Francisco printing concern.

MRS. SCHOFIELD IS OFFICE MANAGER

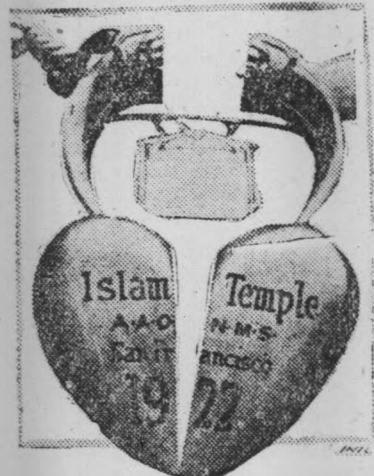

Guthrie Realty Branch is Planning Big Campaign

Charles B. Guthrie of Glendale has opened a real estate office in Eagle Rock, at 732 East Colorado. Mrs. Sarah J. Schofield is the manager, and is well acquainted with Eagle Rock values, having been in the real estate business here for the past several months. Mr. Guthrie is planning an extensive campaign for the upbuilding of the East side, and has had several hundred wood signs made which cover property in that section.

In speaking of the new venture, Mr. Von Oven, the live-wire manager of the Guthrie offices, said: "We feel that Eagle Rock is to become one of the best towns in this section, and having unbounded faith in its growth, we have decided to open an office and do our part in its upbuilding. We will handle nothing but the best property, and will do all in our power to bring the best class of people to Eagle Rock."

Sales made by the Guthrie office at Eagle Rock the past week are: The half acre home place of L. F. Robinson, 950 East Broadway, one of the most highly improved residence properties in this section. Four lots for C. C. Miller on Harlan and Hartwick to a Chicago man, who will immediately erect several bungalows on the same. The home place of Cora E. Volnagel at 429 East Adams avenue. Other sales are pending.

CURIOUS INVITATION

President Harding is a member of Aladdin Temple of the Mystic Shrine, Columbus, Ohio, and the Shriners are inviting him to attend the convocation. The invitation is worded as follows: "Noble Warren Gamaliel Harding, President of the United States: Wilt thou make whole and glad some of the otherwise broken heart of golden California by reuniting the severed symbol as a pledge of thy presence in San Francisco for the Imperial Council session June, 1922?"

PLAN WAY TO SAVE SUICIDES AT FALLS

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Suicides have become so numerous here that authorities have placed pike poles and ropes at frequent intervals along the shores of the American Falls, to enhance the facilities for saving persons who throw themselves or fall into the Niagara river rapids above the falls.

The pike poles have been painted green and white and the ropes placed in green boxes. The rescue equipment is placed in conspicuous places at intervals of 100 yards. Life-saving implements have long been maintained at strategic points along the reservation shore, but some were carried away for souvenirs and others that remained were not displayed conspicuously.

The extra precautions for saving suicides resulted from a recent catastrophe in which a woman went to her death over the American Falls after her body had floated down the river rapids a short distance from the shore for more than 100 yards until it was carried over the brink.

HOLD-UP VICTIMS BANDING TOGETHER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 25.—Tales of a gang of midnight robbers, working on a country road south of this city, holding up motorists at the point of revolvers and threatening their victims with death if they report to the police, are being secretly disclosed by numerous parties to the local Police Department.

With the disclosure of a recent hold-up, other cases were reported which had been withheld for many days. Rumors are being spread that victims are getting together to organize a searching party to explore the road at night to catch the bandits at their work. According to one of the victims, a large number have volunteered to join the searchers' band.

Police are working actively to run down the supposed midnight raiders, but so far have found no evidence of an organized band of highwaymen. They are inclined to discount some of the wild tales and declare that if the robbers had been working in such a manner the hold-up victims would have reported, disregarding the threat of violence.

SEATS FOR MOTHERS
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The War Department announced today that 1000 seats, about one-fifth of the total seating capacity of the memorial amphitheater at Arlington, Armistice Day, had been reserved for Gold Star mothers or other nearest relatives of men who died in the World War.

BIG GAINS DURING WEEK IN PERMITS

Many New Homes Started During Week—More Planned

Eagle Rock building permits continue to climb. Last week a gain of $57,337.00 was made, and it now looks as though the total permits for the year will pass one million dollars.

Many new residences were started this week, and two more store buildings are to be started next week on the East side. It is stated that several more new stores are being planned for Central and West Colorado streets within the next few weeks, and that at least one big building will be started right away.

The postoffice building is ready for occupancy, and furniture for the office is being put in. It is expected that the postoffice will be in its new quarters by the last of next week.

PERSONALS

Mrs. W. I. Ong visited friends in Glendale, yesterday.

A. C. Knox, of the Glendale Realty Company, who has opened an office in Eagle Rock, was transacting business in Los Angeles on Monday.

Frank Johnson made a trip to Los Angeles Monday.

Mr. Saurborn, the repair man, is in Glendale today on business.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Rees are back from their vacation trip to Redondo beach.

Miss Mary Johnston of 214 East Colorado spent yesterday in Los Angeles.

A. O. Arnold and wife of Grand Junction, Colo., have been spending some time here as the guests of J. W. Arnold and family. Mr. Arnold has been showing them over this section, and they report having had a great time here. Mr. Arnold purchased an automobile to see the sights, but has left it behind for sale, as he says automobiling at Grand Junction is not as easy as it might be.

JAPS SUICIDING IN MANY GROUPS

TOKIO, Oct. 25.—"Shinju," or suicide by pairs of lovers who find obstacles, are a recognized common-place in Japan, but recently several cases of trios seeking death together have come to public notice. In one case a geisha and her lover decided to seek happiness in another world, and another geisha, who heard of their intention, was so charmed with the romanticism of the idea that she insisted upon being one of the party. So the three hired a boat, tied themselves together, and found death in the ocean near Osaka.

In another instance a school girl decided to take her life and told two other girls of her intention. The two friends wished to show their loyalty even until death, and one morning the three small corpses were found on the beach, firmly tied together with their sash strings.

On the whole, suicides by women, which have always been fairly common, have increased greatly. Hard times make it difficult for many men to earn money sufficient to allow them to take wives. As a Japanese girl considers it a disgrace not to marry, many of the left-overs are seeking relief in death.

CHRISTY HAPPY

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A check for $30,000 was sent today to Christy Mathewson, who is fighting tuberculosis at Saranac Lake. The money was paid by New York baseball fans at a benefit game for the former Giant pitcher September 30.

NEAR AUTO TRAGEDY DURING PAST WEEK

What might have proved a serious accident occurred one night this week to "little" Davy Johnston when he was out driving his machine with a party of young people. The machine skidded—something else happened—and it turned turtle and was wrecked so badly that it has required considerable work to repair it. So far as learned the girls were not hurt, but only lost their make-up in the accident, with a few minor scratches. Little Davy will not talk much about the mishap, but his friends feel it was a lucky one.

MANY NEW SIGNS TO ATTRACT BUYERS

C. R. Baker, the sign man of Glendale, whose advertisement appears on the directory page of this paper, has just completed several hundred wood signs for the Charles Guthrie company, advertising property in the Eagle Rock section. The work is done by a new process, and demonstrates that Mr. Baker is an A-1 sign man.

Mrs. M. S. Clark of Toronto, Canada, is spending the winter with her aunt, Mrs. J. E. Cocks, 201 East Ridgeway.

NEW DRUG STORE IN EAGLE ROCK SOON

A. W. Hanson and wife of Litchfield, Minn., have arrived here and will open a first class drug store on the East side soon. They are now installing their soda fountain and stock, and hope to announce the opening date soon. Mr. Hanson is an expert druggist and comes to Eagle Rock to get away from the hard winters of the east.

A. W. Hanson, the new druggist on the East side, was transacting business in Los Angeles yesterday.

U. S. DISARMAMENT DELEGATES HOLD FIRST CONFERENCE

The first meeting of the American delegation to the coming armament limitation conference was held in Washington. The session lasted four hours. The photo shows the American delegation leaving the conference hall. Left to right: Elihu Root, Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama,

Secretary of State Hughes, Senator
Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, and Basil Miles, secretary to the delegation.

Interesting Additions To Glendale Library Shelves

Among the new books at the Branch library is a contribution made by Mr.
and Mrs. C. M. Turk which includes a handy edition of Kipling's essays, letters, short stories and poems; political works of Edwin Arnold containing the "Light of Asia" that wonderful portrayal of the life of Buddha,
Journal of a Neglected Wife by Mabel H. Unger, who writes the "Helen and Warren" stories in the "Times,"
"My Wife," by Edward Burke, "A Corner in Women and Other Follies"
by Masson, "Memoirs of Henry VIII of England," "Marguerite Hunter," dealing with spiritualism, "Arrow of Gold," by Conrad, "Your Affectionate Godmother," by Elmer Glyn, Letters of Excellent Advice to a Young Girl on the Eve of Coming Out, and other volumes.

Among the purchases is a set of Edgar Guest's poems, "A Heap o'
Livin'"; "The Path to Home," "When Day is Done," "Just Folks," and
"Over Here."

"Leaves of Grass" by Walt Whitman.
"Many Junes," and "Sir Harry" by Archibald Marshall.

"Rilla of Ingleside," by Montgomery continues the "Anne of Green Gables" series in the person of Anne's daughter.

"The Car That Went Abroad," a travel story covering France and Switzerland.

"Real Folks" and "The Gay worthys"
by Mrs. Whitney, two old-fashioned
New England stories.

"King Solomon's Mines," and "Allan Quatermain" by Haggard, two old-time favorites. They are on the high school reading list and those who choose them will find plenty of interest and excitement.

"American Boys' Handy Book" by Beard, tells how to make and do all kinds of things in the way of sport.
Other titles of recent purchase are:

"Every Day Adventures" by Scoville; "Helen of the Old House," by Wright; "Producing Amateur Entertainments," by Ferris; "Your Dog and Your Cat," how to care for them, by Spaulding; "The Profiters" by Op-penheim; "Lord Jim," by Conrad;
"Pendennis," by Thackeray; "Adventures of Native Guide" and "Spell of the Rockies," by Mills; "The Clean Heart" by Hutchinson; "The Green Mirror," by Walpole; "Heroes and Heroworship" by Carlyle; "California
Desert Trails," by Chase; "Mountain
Tress of Southern California" by Jaeger; "Far Away and Long Ago," by Hudson; "Twin Travelers in Indian" by Wade; "Your United States," by Bennett.

Since the opening of school the circulation has not been quite so large. This is a good sign as it shows that the young people are settling down to study in real earnest and are turning their attention to more serious reading. Dickens, Thackeray, Scott and George Eliot are now coming off the shelves after their summer's rest and the high school reading lists are frequently consulted. We hope soon to have all the titles on those lists.

"Long" System of Pruning Applied to Deciduous Trees

BY LOUIS S. BADOUR

Though the experiments and tests made at the Farm School at Davis and at different localities in the state tend to enhance the adoption of the "Long" system of pruning, still some of our old-time pruners cling to the policy of cutting back the limbs in general and the main limbs or leaders to stubs, 12, 16 or more inches in length, thinking that by such severe "heading back" they give stockiness and renovation to the tree.
The intention is commendable but the results defeat it.

The experiments alluded to brought out the fact that pruning is at all times vitalizing, that the less a tree is pruned, the larger and heavier it becomes.

It should be borne in mind that at the end of a season's growth a balance is established between the root and the top of the tree; the root is large enough to supply the top with moisture and mineral salts and the above-ground parts are sufficient to manufacture the complicated plant food necessary for the growth of the tree. When the limbs are cut back, this balance is disturbed and all the energy of the tree is utilized to re-establish it. New shoot growth is promoted but this growth is made at the expense of the fruit. The limbs that was cut severely had a good number of buds and some buds are potentially fruit buds, only needing sufficient nourishment for their development. So, by cutting that limb we have substituted a growth, with its prospective fruits by a luxurious growth which, owing to its density, prevents the sunlight reaching any new wood attempting to form fruit buds for the following year.

It has also been demonstrated that a large per cent of the total plant food stored in twigs is in the uppermost parts. Isn't it common knowledge that the buds toward the tip of the shoot are the first ones to swell and put out new shoot growth? Isn't it also common observation that leaves are larger and more abundant near the tip of the shoot? This is because the storage of plant food per unit of shoot growth is greatest near the tip. If this be a fact, we must come to the conclusion that, in order to lessen the total growth in any branch we should cut that branch heavily, and in order to increase the total growth in any branch, we should cut that branch lightly. This is exactly what we do in actual operation and the anticipated results are always obtained.

But one might ask: Why do we prune the tree at all, if pruning is weakening? We prune the tree for several reasons. We need convenience in plowing. We need sunlight and air for the promotion of good wood, which in turn will produce good fruit. We need to relieve the tree of excessive wood because of its inability to produce this excessive wood and perfect fruit buds for the following year. Hence, all branches which obstruct this end must be removed.
By choosing the "Long" system of pruning, we accomplish the desired results without greatly impairing the strength of the tree.

The limited space prohibits my entering into the practical method of "Long" pruning, which will be treated later in detail.

LOAN ASSOCIATION HERE IS BENEFIT TO EVERYBODY

City Manager is Strong for Home Building Company Here

"I'm strong for it," said William H. Reeves today, when the Southern California Metropolitan Loan Association, 113 West Broadway, as under discussion. To back his assertion, he produced a membership share he has recently taken out with that organization. "If I did not think this organization were worthy of patronage, is absolutely safe so far as investment is concerned, and is one of the most valuable institutions in Glendale today, I would not have taken this out," and he extended the membership share for observation. Then he went on:

"We must keep up the building of homes in Glendale. We all know what would happen if the construction of homes should stop. The city would be dead within a month. The Southern California Metropolitan Loan Association is the only institution in Glendale that is making a speculation of loaning money for building purposes. I understand that 22 homes are being built right now with money loaned by this organization. They cannot continue to loan money if the people of Glendale do not support them by subscribing for the membership shares. We must cooperate—must work together."

"This association has shares that will fit the pocketbook of every person. You can pay all cash or one dollar a month per share and draw good interest. Upon being paid in by the subscriber the money is immediately loaned for building purposes in Glendale, and thereby finds its way back to the carpenter, plumber, plasterer and other workmen, and eventually back to the local merchants. So, you see, it's a give and take proposition. The fact that it is under the supervision of state officials makes it perfectly safe."

"The dream of the Glendale people is to own their own homes, and this institution assists them in doing this. The first thing for the homeless Glendalean to do is to take out as many of the membership shares of this institution as he can. Then when he has enough saved to buy a building lot the institution will loan him sufficient money to build his most desired home. This is the shortest route to independence. Every believer in Glendale should take out as many of these membership certificates as he can, thereby helping himself and his city. Yes, sir, I'm strong for the Southern California Metropolitan Loan Association."

NEW REALTOR

Former Chief of Police John Lampert has started in the real estate business and within a few days will put 19 lots at the intersection of Wilson and Broadway on the market. These lots are a portion of the Frank estate and will be subdivided into lots with 50 and 75 foot frontage to be sold at prices ranging from $1000 to $1600. The new subdivision will be restricted to homes costing from $5000 to $6000.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Montgomery of Long Beach spent last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Montgomery of 1700 Kenneth Road.

(Reprinted by Request)

The man who invented the women's waists that button down behind.
And the man who invented the cans with keys and the strips that will never wind.
Were put to sea in a leaky boat and with never a bite to eat
But a couple of dozen of patent cans in which was their only meat.

And they sailed and sailed o'er the ocean wide and never they had a taste
Of ought to eat, for the cans stayed shut, and a peek-a-boo shirtwaist
Was all they had to bale the brine that came in the leaky boat.

And their tongues were thick and their throats were dry, and they barely kept afloat.

They came at last to an island fair, and a man stood on the shore.
So they flew a signal of distress and their hopes rose high once more.
And they called to him to fetch a boat, for their craft was sinking fast.
And a couple of hours at best they knew was all their boat would last.

So he called to them a cheery call and he said he would make haste,
But first he must go back to his wife and button up her waist.
Which would only take him an hour or so and then he would fetch a boat.
And the man who invented the backstairs waist, he groaned in his swollen throat.

The hours passed by on leaden wings and they saw another man
In the window of a bungalow, and he held a tin meat can
In his bleeding hands, and they called to him, not once but twice and thrice.
And he said: "Just wait till I open this and I'll be there in a trice!"

And the man who invented the patent cans, he knew what the promise meant.

So he leaped in the air with a horrid cry and into the sea he went,
And the bubbles rose where he sank and sank and a groan choked in the throat.

Of the man who invented the backstairs waist and he sank with the leaky boat!

Town Topics

Visits Sister—Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who went north with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Worley to attend the E. S. convention at Santa Cruz, after its adjournment went to San Francisco to visit her sister.

New Uniforms—According to a notice in the bulletin board in the police station the Glendale police personnel will step forth Sunday like Solomon in all his glory. The traffic officers will wear white gloves in addition to their blue uniforms.

Attend Forum—J. H. Braly of 505 North Brand and Mrs. D. Lord, who is this house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Braly, attended the meeting of the forum of the Men's City Club last night in Los Angeles. Capt. Robert Madden, a very fine speaker, gave a talk on "The Condition of the Railroads and the Cause of the Present Condition."

Build New Home—Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson of 718-A South Brand boulevard are building a pretty new home on the top of the hill at the end of Cypress street. The cost will approximate $10,000 when completed.

To Move—Mrs. M. Hubler, who has been visiting Mrs. J. E. Henderson of 401 West California avenue, left Monday for a few days' trip to Visalia. Upon her return the latter part of the week, she and her son, Bob, who is attending the local high school, will move into their new home at 309 North Columbus avenue.

Silver Tea—Mrs. C. Farrel will entertain tomorrow afternoon with a silver tea at her home, 435 Patterson avenue, and in the evening there will be dancing and card playing. It will be a benefit for the Holy Family Catholic church fund.

It's a Grandson—Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith of 328 Milford street are proud parents of a grandson, born Friday at the Research Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Armstrong. The mother before her marriage was known as Miss Lila May Smith.

New Bridge Club—The newly organized Bluebird Bridge club will hold its initial meeting with Mrs. Louis Webster, 115 Palm Drive, Saturday evening. Mrs. Webster has recently come to Glendale from San Diego.

Purely Personal

Mrs. Frank Townsend and her twin children, from Santa Monica, were week-end guests of Mrs. E. L. Young of 225 West Milford street.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, who have been guests of their daughter, Mrs. Thomas G. Widmeyer of 503 North Kenwood street, are spending a few days at Manattan Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Maurer of Long Beach were the overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fuelscher of 237 South Orange street on Thursday night. They left Friday morning for Nevada, when they will live for a time with the hope of improving Mr. Maurer's health. They are making the trip by automobile.

Mrs. Shives Mitchell and two sons, Billy and Fergie, of King City, Cal., arrived in Glendale Monday evening for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Ella Richardson of 317 North Brand boulevard. Mrs. Mitchell will be at home to her friends at her mother's home until Friday evening, when she will leave for her own home.

Miss Bernie Moorehouse of 1000 East Lomita avenue returned Monday from Phoenix, Ariz., where she spent two enjoyable weeks visiting friends, one of whom is the superintendent of the Indian school there.

W. S. Sparr of 234 South Jackson street returned Friday from an extended trip through the East. He spent four weeks in Minneapolis, Detroit, St. Paul and Chicago, and stopped off at San Francisco on the return trip. Mr. Sparr reports a very pleasant trip but is glad to get back to Glendale.

Mrs. G. F. Cornkrite of 217 Milford street will attend the Westlake Chapter, O. E. S., tonight in Los Angeles. The meeting will be in the form of a reception of the grand marshal, Mrs. Elton Josephine La Fontaine of Los Angeles.

John Johnson of 718-A South Brand boulevard. Brandale apartments, left Monday night with Mr. Kellogg, president of the Button Board Lath Co., on a business trip covering three or four days, to San Francisco.

Mrs. Hile and daughter of Gardena avenue spent the week-end at Newport Beach.

NATIONAL GUARD TO BE PREPARED

Anticipating that National Guard companies will be called out in the event of the strike of railroad employees, Captain Thomas D. Watson, commander of company M of Glendale and a portion of the One Hundred and Sixtieth regiment of California National Guard, has received full information from the militia bureau of the war department instructing him in the procedure for the mobilizing of his company of the Guard unit in this city.

Accompanying the order is a notation on the margin for the captain to keep these orders available at all times. This would seem to indicate that there is a possibility of Glendale companies of the Guard being called into active service.

These orders were received by Captain Watson on Sunday following close on the heels of an announcement from the war department that the National Guard would be ready for duty either in the operation of trains or for guard duty during the strike that is now pending. Members of the Glendale companies are anxious for the mobilization call as many of them are desiring a taste of actual military service. Practically all of the officers of the Glendale companies and a few of the enlisted men are veterans of the World War and the personnel of the companies that have not seen actual service have been drilled and trained to such an extent that they would give a good account of themselves in competition with companies of veterans.

BENEFIT DAY FOR BROADWAY SCHOOL

In "The Man Who," founded on Lloyd Osborne's Saturday Evening Post story, Bert Lytell appears as Reddy Mills, the young man who goes barefoot into exclusive New York circles as a protest against the high price of shoes and sets a fashion in the campaign against profiteering that arouses the whole country.

"The Man Who" is a Maxwell Karger production for Metro. In the cast supporting Mr. Lytell there are such distinguished actresses as Lucy Cotton and Virginia Valli. The picture has proved one of the most brilliant comedy romances that have ever been screened. It's the sort of picture that should not be missed.

This is benefit day for the Broadway school. The children will use their share of the proceeds to purchase new equipment for their playground. The "Toonerville Follies" comedy and other attractions are also on the bill.

Visits Eastman—Captain Southwick of Washington, D. C., and E. P. Blake of Los Angeles, visited A. Eastman of the Glendale State Bank Friday afternoon. They are old friends of Mr. Eastman. Captain Southwick and Mr. Blake recently purchased 21 acres of land in Glendale near the corner of Vine and Tenth streets and expect to subdivide this property and put it on the market very soon.

NARROW ESCAPE IS STAGED ON MONDAY

An unidentified man had a narrow escape from almost certain death Monday afternoon when a Salt Lake passenger train crashed into a house on the railroad right of way at the intersection of Harvard street and Glendale avenue. The man leaped to safety before the horrified gaze of several hundred people just before the train crashed into the house.

The house was being moved across the tracks and just as the front wheels of the trucks under the house had crossed the right of way the cable that was being used to draw the house, snapped. The man was on top of the house directing the gang of movers and attending to getting the building under the telephone wires. At first he did not notice the approaching train. The frantic shouts of several people on the sidewalk attracted his attention barely in time to climb down a ladder.

The train was traveling about 40 miles an hour when the collision occurred and fragments of the wrecked building were scattered for several hundred feet. Workmen were put to work at once clearing away the debris. There will be no formal investigation of the collision.

A house totally destroyed in this present shortage of house in Glendale is a tragedy, but as the house was only a shell and the train was chartered by the Vitagraph company for the purpose of running into the house, the crowd that witnessed the thrilling escape of an actor who was paid to do this stunt will in all probability live to witness the finished picture.

RED CROSS WORKERS TO HAVE SESSION

At the suggestion of the Pacific Division, the Pasadena Chapter A. R. C., has called an inter-county chapter conference, to be held in the chamber of commerce assembly room, East building of Hotel Green, 100 South Raymond avenue, October 31 and November 1.

Col. George Filmer, manager Pacific Division, Capt. Paul Perigord, member of the French high commission and others will speak. The coming Red Cross roll call plans will be discussed. All Red Cross workers and others who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

WINTER AGENCY TO MOVE IN NOVEMBER

The Winter Agency, one of the wide-awake real estate companies of Glendale, which has been located for the past two months at 112-A East Broadway, will, after November 1st, be situated at 208 East Broadway. The growth this agency has made during the past few weeks has made larger quarters and a main floor location absolutely necessary. This firm has just taken over the agency for the Business Men's Assurance company of Kansas City, Mo.

Joseph Dehn of Whittier was the Sunday guest of Joe Gannon of 318 West Colorado street. The two men are former college friends.

Clean, pure, healthful heat, always ready. No troublesome kindling to prepare, no fires to lay; no dirty, dusty ashes to remove and litter up the rugs and floors.
